Problem Statement

Our users are frustrated because they have trouble determining when their friends/family are available which makes it difficult to plan outings with them. Our solution should provide users with an accessible and easy way to view the schedules of their friends/ family.

Who is experiencing the problem?

Family members/ friends who want to plan events easily and accessible without it interfering with clashing schedules.

What is the problem?

It often becomes hectic to plan events with friends/family as there is no clear layout of the overlapping schedules.

Where does the problem present itself?

Typically at home and at work.

Why does it matter?

People need an easy way to access and share schedules so planning events becomes easier.
